

Paddy Fielder

I came to in Debenham nearly 45 years ago when I joined the local GP practice. While working I encouraged the practice in developing an understanding of its patients as whole beings with emotional as well as medical needs. For many years I witnessed the very great stresses and emotional difficulties that carers of those who have dementia have to cope with on a daily basis. I retired in 2010 but continue to support the Project as a trustee and carers through post diagnostic support.
