

Appendix 9: Home and Residential Care Cost Data

Average Cost of a Social Care Package for a Family Living with Dementia (UK)

There is no single “standard” dementia care package, because costs depend on whether the support is:

- Home care (hourly)
- Live-in care
- Residential dementia care
- Nursing dementia care

But we can give accurate national averages from the sources returned in search.

1. Home Care (Hourly Support at Home)

Dementia care is typically 15% more expensive than standard home care because of the specialist skills required.

Typical UK hourly home-care rates (2025):

- Standard home care: £25–£35 per hour
- Dementia-specialist home care: £30–£40 per hour (after the 15% uplift)

A typical package for a family supporting someone with moderate dementia is:

- 2–3 visits per day (1–2 hours each)
- Weekly cost: £420–£840
- Annual cost: £22,000–£44,000

2. Live-In Dementia Care (24-hour support at home)

Live-in care is increasingly common for families wanting to avoid residential care.

2025 national averages:

- Standard live-in care: £1,100–£1,800 per week
- Specialist dementia live-in care: £1,400–£2,000 per week

Annual cost:

- £73,000–£104,000

3. Residential Dementia Care Homes

The most robust national dataset (Lottie, 2025) shows:

Average weekly residential dementia care cost (UK): £1,449

Regional examples:

- East of England (your region): £1,442 per week for residential dementia care

Annual cost:

- £75,000+

4. Nursing Dementia Care Homes

For people with dementia plus complex medical needs:

4. UK average: £1,597 per week
5. East of England: £1,577 per week

Annual cost:

- £82,000+

5. Lifetime Cost of Dementia Care

The Alzheimer's Society estimates:

- Average lifetime cost of dementia care: ~£100,000
- 63% of this cost is paid by families themselves.

This is because dementia is not considered a health condition eligible for NHS-funded care unless needs are severe enough for Continuing Healthcare.

The “average” package for a family

Most families supporting someone with dementia at home use a mixed package:

- 1–3 hours of home care per day
- Occasional respite
- Carer support
- Day services (where available)

This typically costs:

£400–£900 per week

£20,000–£45,000 per year

Families needing live-in care or residential care face much higher costs.
